

Dear Friend

10th Dec 2007

As you are very well aware, World Aids' Day on December 1st is the culmination of many months planning for all of the organisations involved.

We at Body Positive North West would like to take a moment to acknowledge all the time, energy and planning that you and your organisation contributed in order to make this World Aids' Day such a successful and for many a moving series of events. The culmination of this period of hard work and planning being the Vigil in Sackville Park which, although damp and cold, was a moving remembrance of lives lost to HIV/Aids' and a celebration of those living with HIV.

In order for any such series of events to run as smoothly as on this occasion, it is abundantly clear that everyone involved has gone further than the extra mile.

We would be grateful if, on our behalf, you would thank your colleagues for their efforts in making these events the best they could be. We look forward to joint planning of this and other events in the future.

On behalf of everyone at Body Positive North West

Suresh
